

Providers scramble as drug shortages persist

Drug shortages continue to keep providers across the nation scrambling to find options for patient care. A new survey from the American College of Emergency Physicians found that 9 in 10 doctors are taking time away from patients as they search for alternative therapies.

—Institute for Safe Medication Practices

